

Atlanta University Center
Robert W. Woodruff Library

NATIONAL CENTER FOR CIVIL AND HUMAN RIGHTS
Pemberton Place

Seeking to Tell a Story:

Political Action from Slavery to Civil Rights

Atlanta University Center Robert W. Woodruff Library
Upper Level - Archives Research Center

a public exhibit on display

OCTOBER 18 - DECEMBER 13, 2013

The companion digital exhibit is available online at www.auctr.edu

Maurice Pennington Political Cartoon Collection, Undated.
© Archives Research Center, AUC Robert W. Woodruff Library

About the Exhibit

The Seeking to Tell a Story: Political Action from Slavery to Civil Rights public exhibit highlights black political action in Georgia related to the civil rights movement. The exhibit features materials from several collections housed in, and on loan to, the AUC Robert W. Woodruff Library's Archives Research Center – including the Atlanta Student Movement and Maurice Pennington Political Cartoon Collections. Students across the AUC schools led the Atlanta Student Movement of organized protests and boycotts. The exhibit showcases the 1960s movement through photographs, flyers, news clippings, and correspondence. Contact archives@auctr.edu or 404-978-2052 to learn more.

Honorary Co-Chairs

Mr. & Mrs. Hank Aaron
Mrs. Lucy Pennington
Mr. & Mrs. Herman J. Russell
Ambassador Andrew Young & Mrs. Carolyn Young

Commission to Honor the Committee on the Appeal for Human Rights and the Atlanta Student Movement
Council of Presidents of the Atlanta University Center
Consortium

111 James P. Brawley Drive, SW, Atlanta, GA 30314
Visit www.auctr.edu for parking information directions.