

FEATURED COLLECTION

Black Life in America

Comprehensive coverage of the African American experience from early 18th century to the present day

A must-have digital archive of news media that presents the broad sweep of African American history sourced from more than 19,000 American and global news sources, including current and historical Black publications.

African American Newspapers, Series 1, 1826-1998

“...unique perspectives and rich historical context...Highly recommended.”

— L. A. Ganster, University of Pittsburgh, in Choice

Based on James P. Danky’s monumental bibliography, this one-of-a-kind collection provides 270 newspapers chronicling a century and a half of the African American experience, including many rare 19th-century titles.

African American Newspapers, Series 2, 1835-1956

“...Immensely helpful for scholarship and teaching...”

— Britt Rusert, University of Massachusetts, Amherst

An essential complement to Series 1 of this widely acclaimed resource, this digital collection adds virtually all other newspapers in the genre, including many scarce and short-run titles.

African American Periodicals, 1825-1995

“The richness of this collection is unparalleled.”

— Phillip Luke Sinitiere, Sam Houston State University

An essential companion to African American Newspapers, this collection features more than 170 wide-ranging periodicals by and about African Americans, including dozens of rare titles.

African Americans and Jim Crow: Repression and Protest, 1883-1922

“This wealth of varied materials will have value to scholars and students across the humanities.”

— Michael DeNotto, Hope College, in ccAdvisor

Created from the Afro-Americana Collection, this crucial resource provides more than 1,000 works covering the evolution of African-American identity during Jim Crow, accounts of African-American life and much more.

African Americans and Reconstruction: Hope and Struggle, 1865-1883

“A world-class repository of black life and thought...”

— Richard S. Newman, Rochester Institute of Technology

Created from the Library Company’s Afro-Americana Collection, this powerful digital resource brings together the raw material of two decades of African-American history through nearly 1,400 printed works.

African History and Culture, 1540-1921

“...New and exciting opportunities for uncovering the lives of Africans...”

— Krystal Appiah, Curator of African American History, Library Company of Philadelphia

Covering the history of Africa and its diverse peoples over four centuries, this collection features more than 1,300 books, pamphlets, almanacs, broadsides and ephemera, both from and about the continent.

Collections for African American Studies

Afro-Americana Imprints, 1535-1922

“A rich digital collection.... Highly recommended.”

— D.W. Bilal, Missouri State Library, in Choice

Created from the Library Company’s acclaimed Afro-Americana Collection, this unique online resource provides researchers with an unmatched record of African American history, literature and culture.

American Race Relations: Global Perspectives, 1941-1996

“These articles prove the importance of reading global perspectives to be truly informed.”

— Bart Everts, Rutgers University, in Reference Reviews (2017)

From the archives of the Central Intelligence Agency, this is the only comprehensive collection covering foreign reactions to America’s racial struggles in the mid-20th century.

The American Slavery Collection, 1820-1922

“Vast and invaluable....”

— Manisha Sinha, University of Massachusetts, Amherst

This stunning digital resource delivers more than 3,500 works published on every facet of American enslavement, including invaluable Southern imprints.

Black Authors, 1556-1922

“...A dream come true for the early African-Americanist.”

— Jeannine Marie DeLombard, University of California, Santa Barbara

Tracing African and African American authors’ creative efforts over four centuries, this is the largest collection of its kind. Includes accounts of European colonialism, anti-slavery writings, science, philosophy and literature.

Caribbean History and Culture, 1535-1920

“A one-of-a-kind resource for students and scholars of Caribbean studies....”

— Krystal Appiah, Curator of African American History, Library Company of Philadelphia

Expertly compiled by curators of Afro-Americana Imprints, this diverse resource covers the history of Caribbean islands over a span of nearly 400 years, through more than 1,200 books, pamphlets, broadsides and ephemera.

Caribbean Newspapers, Series 1, 1718-1876

“...Promises to transform scholarship on the 18th- and 19th-century West Indies.”

— Eliga Gould, University of New Hampshire

Featuring more than 140 newspapers from 22 islands, this acclaimed resource is essential for researching Colonial history, the Atlantic slave trade, international commerce, New World slavery and U.S. relations with the Caribbean.

Civil Rights in America: From Reconstruction to the Great Society

The definitive collection of U.S. congressional publications related to American civil rights

Coverage spanning the challenges of newly freed slaves, women’s suffrage, achievements of the Civil Rights Movement, gender discrimination and more. Offers vast research potential for a breadth of disciplines, including American history, political science, social justice and related fields.

UNLOCK HISTORY.

For more information on these and other Readex collections, call 800.762.8182, email sales@readex.com or visit www.readex.com

Readex
A Division of NewsBank